

From: William C. T. Van Hecke
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 1/23/02 1:40pm
Subject: Harsher punishment necessary.

The company has abused its monopoly power, and deliberately failed to comply with the already lenient punishment assigned to them. Such an infraction does not deserve a "slap on the wrist" punishment, a fine that will barely dent Microsoft's enormous supply of cash. Nor does it deserve the chance to further its monopoly via software "donations" that cost next to nothing to produce.

"Infinitely more than nine"
jetfuel@metalbat.com
<http://www.metalbat.com>